

Questions

1. Does the epidemic affect men and women equally, and does the gender-balance vary by age? What about the same question for the recovery rate?
2. Does the method of contraction of the disease vary by age group or gender?
3. Do the richest regions (measured by real estate prices) and most economically active regions (measured by the number of real estate sales) tend to have the most or least number of cases?